Questions 1 - 5 : Read the excerpt from Trills and Thrills : Birdwatching in India and answer the questions that follow. 5x1=5

One of the standard questions to me is about the thrilling adventures in a lifetime of exploring for birds. My answer must seem disappointing. Ornithology as a hobby or profession, though full of adventures, rewards and disappointments, is usually one of the most peaceful of pursuits. It is certainly not lacking in excitement and thrills, though. With the richness and variety of bird life in India, exciting discoveries can be made by any birdwatcher. It is refreshing to find that birdwatching as a hobby is growing rapidly in popularity. I had grown up only on the traditional accounts of the nesting habits of birds. These were interesting enough for a keen bird photographer, as I was, to want to record on film. But while concealed in a canvas hide, perched high up on a stepladder, a few yards away from the nests, I noticed some unusual goings on which clearly showed that the birds had not read the textbooks.

Now I am a lake. A woman bends over me,

Searching my reaches for what she really is.

Then she turns to those liars, the candles or the moon.

I see her back, and reflect it faithfully.

She rewards me with tears and an agitation of hands.

I am important to her. She comes and goes.

Each morning it is her face that replaces the darkness.

In me she has drowned a young girl, and in me an old woman

Rises toward her day after day, like a terrible fish.

She calls out to the man on the street
"Sir, can you help me ?
It's cold and I've nowhere to sleep,
Is there somewhere you can tell me ?"
He walks on, doesn't look back
He pretends he can't hear her
Starts to whistle as he crosses the street
Seems embarrassed to be there.
Oh, think twice, cause it's another day for
You and me in paradise.
Oh, think twice, cause it's another day for you,
You and me in paradise,
Think about it.

[B] Here are two excerpts from the play Julius Caesar. They are the words of Brutus and Mark Antony delivered on the occasion of Caesar's funeral. Read them carefully and prepare a paragraph comparing the theme of both speeches.

Mark Antony (Original)	Brutus (Simplified)
He was my friend, faithful and just to me : But Brutus says he was ambitious; And Brutus is an honourable man. He hath brought many captives home to Rome, Whose ransoms did the general coffers fill : Did this in Caesar seem ambitious ? When that the poor have cried, Caesar hath wept : Ambition should be made of sterner stuff :	Because Caesar loved me, I cry for him. Because he was successful, I am happy for him. Because he was brave, I respect him. But because he was ambitious, I killed him. So, there are tears for his love, happiness for his success, respect for his bravery, and death for his ambition.

Questions 11 - 14 Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow. 4x1=4

Digital Detox and Mental Health

In today's fast - paced digital world, mobile phones and social media have become an inseparable part of daily life. The average teenager checks a smartphone dozens of times a day, often without realising it. Notifications, likes, and endless scrolling may seem harmless, but they quietly affect concentration, sleep, and emotional well-being. Many students feel restless or anxious when their phones are out of reach, a condition experts now describe as digital dependence.

For example, studies show that using screens late at night suppresses melatonin, the hormone responsible for sleep. This is why students who browse their phones before bedtime often wake up tired and unfocused in class. Social media can also create unhealthy comparisons, making young users feel inadequate or stressed.

Digital detox does not mean giving up technology completely. Instead, it encourages mindful use. Simple habits can make a big difference: turning off non-essential notifications, keeping phones away during study hours, and avoiding screens at least one hour before sleep. Replacing screen time with activities like reading, walking, journaling, or talking with family helps refresh the mind.

Score

Interestingly, even a short break from screens can improve attention and mood. Learning to balance digital life with real-world experiences is an essential life skill. When used wisely, technology supports learning; when overused, it silently steals time, focus, and peace of mind.

11. According to the passage, excessive screen time mainly affects students by :
    (A) increasing their physical strength.
    (B) reducing concentration and disturbing sleep.
    (C) improving their social skills.
    (D) making them more disciplined.

12. What happens when students use mobile phones late at night ?

13. Read the following statements carefully :
    (i) Frequent phone checking can lead to anxiety and restlessness.
    (ii) A digital detox means completely avoiding technology.
    (iii) Turning off unnecessary notifications can improve focus.
    (iv) Short breaks from screens can positively affect our mood.

    Choose the correct option :
    (A) Only (i) and (ii) are true
    (B) Only (ii) and (iii) are true
    (C) Only (i), (iii) and (iv) are true
